DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 27-29 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claim 29 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The examiner cannot find support for the comparison of the confidence levels with the thresholds and the second threshold being less than a first threshold in the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

1. Claims 27-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Loveland (6437819) in view of Shahraray (6211912).

Regarding claim 27, Loveland discloses an apparatus that relates to video surveillance (Loveland: column 1, lines 5-7). This apparatus comprises "monitoring a level of confidence that the tracking system is tracking a target" (Loveland: figure 7, wherein monitoring a level of confidence is determining if a good match has been found) and "altering magnification of an image visible to the operator in response to a change in the level of confidence" (Loveland: figure 7, wherein altering the magnification is zooming out when a good match has not been found). However, Loveland fails to disclose increasing the magnification in response to a decrease in the confidence level. Shahraray teaches increasing the magnification when the confidence level decreases (Shahraray: column 5, lines 59-65, wherein the magnification is the zoom-in operation; the decrease in confidence is the object appearing to exit the image indicating a low confidence in the tracking system). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to take the apparatus disclosed by Loveland and add the zoom processing taught by Shahraray in order to obtain an apparatus that can successfully track both objects moving away and moving toward the scene being monitored.

Regarding claim 28, Loveland in view of Shahraray disclose "the magnification is changed incrementally as the level of confidence decreases" (Loveland: column 4, lines 55-59, wherein the magnification, or zoom, is decreased when the system detects the shopper has become temporarily obscured indicating a change in the level of confidence; Shahraray: column 5, lines 10-15, wherein the incremental change is the slow zoom process).

Regarding claim 29, as best understood by the examiner, Loveland in view of Shahraray disclose "the magnification is increased when the confidence level falls below a first threshold and decreased when the confidence level falls below a second threshold less than the first threshold" (Loveland: figure 7, column 4, lines 55-59; Shahraray: column 7, lines 1-22, wherein the thresholds are the two thresholds).

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
